Neil Anderson is Commercial and Public Affairs Director for TramPower Ltd, an Associate at both Capital Highways Ltd and Traffic Solutions Ltd and a Visiting Lecturer in transportation at Cardiff University. He is Secretary of TPS Cymru/Wales.

A New Zealander now resident in Cardiff, he holds degrees in economics, philosophy and transport planning and management, and has held elected office on two regional authorities. Neil has written extensively and often provocatively on transportation spatial planning, information design, marketing, accessibility, rail and Light Rail, low-impact transportation planning, renewable energy and other topics. Articles have recently appeared in Focus, T&UT and IWA's Agenda.

The presentation will review contemporary efforts in Wales to come to terms with the profound and multi-dimensional nature of the global environmental crisis. Neil will propose some major policy changes that we ought to consider as a matter of urgency.
