

North Wales Best Practice Club

in partnership with Burges Salmon

Supply Chain Opportunities in the Nuclear Sector

18th April 2013, Llandudno

Investment in infrastructure projects over the coming years is likely to be heavily influenced by the Nuclear sector and given the proximity of Wylfa, Trawsfynydd, Hinkley Point and Oldbury to Wales, this offers invaluable opportunities to the Welsh construction industry. But what are the “real” opportunities for local Welsh businesses in the nuclear sector? It’s not all about building nuclear reactors. There’s a significant element of “non-nuclear” infrastructure work required. But how do local businesses position themselves competitively to compete for this work over short and long term?

This event will provide an opportunity for you to hear from key individuals in the nuclear sector who will give their thoughts on what potential opportunities could be available and how local businesses can align themselves to the requirements of potential clients. This event will set out how CEWales’ core principles of collaborative working through integrated teams and supply chains provide the best way to maximise value for local communities and businesses whilst meeting the client and end users requirements.

During the event we will be broadcasting live Twitter stream using hashtag #CEWNuclearEvent. If you are on Twitter, you can participate by tweeting questions, comments and suggestions to our presenters before and during the event. If you wish you may also email CEW cewalesevents@cewales.org.uk with questions and of course you will be able to ask questions on the day.

North Wales Best Practice Club Supply Chain Opportunities in the Nuclear Sector

18th April 2013
Llandudno

Agenda

8.30am	Registration (Tea, coffee, bacon rolls)
9.00am	Introduction Gwyndaf Williams, Chair of the NWales Best Practice Club
9.05am	What's happening in the Nuclear Sector? An Overview Gareth Davies (Burgess Salmon)
9.45am	Q&A
9.55am	Supply Chain Development Ian Forrester Mowatt (Energy Island Programme)
10.15am	Q&A
10.20am	What are the opportunities in decommissioning? Paul Walsh (Magnox)
10.50am	Q&A
10.55am	Break (Tea, coffee, biscuits)
11.10am	What are the opportunities in new build? Amanda MacMillan (Horizon Nuclear Energy) & Chris Squires (EDF)
11.50am	Q&A
12.00pm	What are the experiences from the supply chain? Andrew Samuel (Mon Maintenance)
12.20pm	Panel Q&A
12.50pm	Summing up and next steps Gwyndaf Williams, Chair of the NWales Best Practice Club
1.00pm	Lunch and networking
1.30pm	Close

